

The holidays are here and YOVASO wants to keep our teen drivers and passengers safe during this high-risk season. In 2017, six teens were killed on Virginia’s roadways in December. Please help us make this holiday season the safest yet by incorporating these statistics from the past three years into your campaign activities and events. It’s important we share this information with young drivers and passengers, as well as their parents, to let them know that December is a high-risk month for young drivers and their passengers. Help us save lives this holiday season by reminding our youth to Steer Safely into the New Year!
